Easter...disrupts all that is old and failed.

Our scriptures are seeking to provide us with both a glimpse of the early church, trying to understand Jesus' resurrection, and asking us what sense it means to all of us. Our focus is not to be necessarily on the Resurrection itself, as much as what affect it had on those disciples of His and on us. Two weeks out from Easter and the empty tomb, and we are basically being told that while fear overcomes them and us...there is little room for the community to be alive. It's interesting that since Easter Sunday the only thing that they share is their fear. And now He comes to them again, and intrudes into their sorrowful lives, and His presence is what regathers and reconstitutes them into a community.

What was the cement, the glue, the duct-tape that solidifies them into the community that he gathered around Himself while physically with them? It was His greeting of peace...not once or twice but three times. It was not only a greeting, but it was an assurance that He was indeed alive and in their presence. He ate with them and told them that "...a ghost does not have flesh and bones, as you see that I have." That greeting of peace also was to strengthen their lack of belief, that He indeed was risen and still journeying with them. Finally, it was a word that conveyed that a life of faithful, obedient living would profit them freedom from their sins and death. When freed from fear they became a joyful and powerful community.

Real, concrete newness is what the Resurrection gave to them and gives us. Though the risen Lord is still mysterious, He is very real. He is very real in the church...He cooks, and they eat...that's community. He is present, and they touch Him...they are community. Yet, terror and fear are still there because of His post-tomb appearances. What a dilemma...they want to be with Him, but they are afraid when He comes to them. Out of their strange encounters, the early church becomes a community that witnesses to a real chance for new life. That's what we seek, hopefully. I want a chance, an opportunity to grow beyond my weaknesses and unbelief. Our old lives that are marked by failure, shame, doubt, and even some defeats, are re-created into a new life of confidence and joy...if only we believe in the power of His Resurrection. Its that kind of belief that makes us whole again and a community of faith, forever.

Walking with Him...and you,

Fr. Mike

2018 World Day of Prayer for Vocations

Today the Church throughout the world prays for vocations. Will you make a special effort to ask the Lord for more vocations to the priesthood and religious life?

- ◆ Pray for the priests who have ministered to you throughout your life, both living and dead.
- ◆ Keep our parish priest in your prayers throughout the week.
- ◆ Encourage your children, grandchildren, or other young people to consider a vocation as a priest or religious brother or sister.
- ◆ Pray the rosary for more young men and women in our diocese to respond to God's call.

Emergency Protocol...during Mass.

Whenever an emergency occurs while we are in church, we want to do what is the best for the situation and/or person. We have to be especially prudent when it comes to a medical emergency. Sometimes our helping, is not really helping and can be detrimental. Our Ushers have met and have been advised what the best thing to do might be...given several situations such as: Medical Emergencies, a disruptive person, a fire, or even an 'active shooter', God forbid ! One Usher has been designated, at each Mass, to be the "Lead Usher or #1"...it is his responsibility to assess the situation and then:

- 1-contact the Police Officer on the property
- 2-Call 9-1-1 and ask for Police or Fire help
- 3-possibly make use of the AED machine, if necessary.

If there is a Doctor or Nurse in the church, they should be given preference in tending to medical emergencies Sometimes the worst thing that we can do is have too many people caring for a person who becomes sick and providing help that could be worse for their condition. Let's be smart and always do what we can to ensure health and safety for everyone in our congregation. Mahalo.

Bereavement Ministry: Volunteers Needed

One of our important ministries is how we assist parishioners whose family has experienced a death. This is a very special time when comfort is offered by the parish family a, particularly in providing a joyous mass at our church.

Currently we have several parishioners who are involved with this ministry, but we need several more to complement their efforts. Please consider joining our Bereavement Ministry. We will provide the necessary training and several things that you should consider are:

- *most funerals take place on weekday mornings. *this is a ministry where you work as a team.
 - *there is no need to speak in public, you serve as a support to the family at church. *qualifications should include: a desire to faithfully celebrate Resurrection and new life at a Funeral Mass.
- If interested...please call the Rector at: 396-0551

Third Sunday of Easter, Weekend of April 14/15, 2018.

An underlying lesson from all three readings this weekend is that the Risen Christ has wiped away our sins, not only for individuals, but throughout the world and its history. The terrible power of sin has now been reversed and our coming to perfection through the love of God is part of the Easter experience. As stewards of God’s love we are called to participate in Christ’s redemptive activity. The stewardship questions for us are many: How do we resist injustice at home or in the workplace? How do we confront violence in our language and attitudes? How do we bring Christ to others?

Lesson 94

We are a Temple of God

“The day will come when there will not be left a stone upon another” (Luke 21:5-11)

Although the Romans destroyed the Temple of Jerusalem in 70AD, pilgrims still travel just to see the ruins. We travel too. We take photos for the refrigerator or smartphone. We want to remember the wonder of God’s creation.

But God’s creation exists all around us, wherever we go and whether we realize it or not, we are the ones God uses to reach out to others. Let us treasure this opportunity for stewardship to become Temples of God.
